

[3] Spur-free dynamic range (SFDR) is defined visually on this spectrum analyzer display as the power ratio—that is, the difference, in decibels—between the amplitude of the fundamental frequency and that of its largest spurious response, in this case the 2nd harmonic.